

Halftime

It was a crisp, winter evening. Our team was winning by 2 points as the half time activities unfolded. The concession stands were packed with hungry kids and adults. The crowds in the bleachers were wild with excitement since this was the last home game of the year.

Suddenly, the cheering stopped and a hush came over the bleachers as their Dance Team came skipping out into the middle of the court. No one could believe what was happening. I had to rub my eyes and look again to make sure I wasn't just imagining this.

YOU FINISH THE REST!!!!!! ☺

Directions: Pick up where the above prompt left off. Be creative and detailed in your writing. You may use a computer to write your “Halftime” story; however, you must use 12 font and write in Times New Roman or Ariel only. Titles must be no bigger than 16 font! If you handwrite it, make sure it is neat and readable. Your story must be about 500 words long and double-spaced. Illustrate your story! Incorporate vivid characters, detailed settings and descriptions, etc.

Have fun!

Worth: _____

Due: _____